Leakage Control

Leakage Control

Leakage from the water distribution system is costing Irish businesses and local authorities millions of euros in lost water and lost energy.

Grontmij's leakage control team uses latest digital equipment for effective detection of leaks and to carry out fire flow pressure tests. We also offer water management advice, demand management and carry out water audits.

Advantages of Leakage Control

Reductions in Cost

Grontmij provides integrated leakage control and water management solutions using expertise knowledge in this field coupled with the latest digital equipment and current European best practice.

We have achieved substantial savings in consumption for both local authority and private business clients, leading to equally substantial reductions in the cost of water delivered.

Services provided include:

- Leakage detection on water systems
- Leak checks on new development distribution networks
- Water audits (meter checks)
- Flow measurement (fire flows)
- Pressure checking
- Mapping, surveying and tracing pipelines
- Demand management (recommendation for water saving devices)
- Local training for clients' employees
- Annual checks on pipelines
